COOLIDGE LANDSLIDE GROWS!

PURCHASE OF HIGH SCHOOL PROPERTY AGAIN FAILS TO RECEIVE TWO-THIRDS VOTE

City Project Fails to Carry For Second Time in Less Than Six Weeks, in Spite of Heavy Balloting at Election

For the second time in less than six weeks the voters of Glendale have rejected the proposed civic center by refusing to incur a bonded debt of $650,000 for the purchase and improvement of the Harvard High school site to be converted into a civic center, and the acquisition of the buildings to be used for municipal purposes.

The disapproval of Glendale voters was forcefully stated yesterday at the polls when the bonds failed to receive the necessary two-thirds majority. The vote to approve the city plan as recommended by the members of the City Planning commission, which carried, will be of no avail, inasmuch as the bond project was rejected.

The thirty-one precincts where the votes had been tabulated up to 2 o'clock this afternoon reported: Civic center bonds, yes, 5130; no, 3840. Civic center city plan, yes, 4822; no, 5799.

No Chance to Win
Under the rule of a two-thirds majority to carry, the civic center bonds must receive twice as many votes favorable to the issue as against it, hence in order for the bonds to be put over in the thirty-one precincts reporting, 2550 additional votes in favor of the issue would be needed, which would bring the total "yes" votes up to 7680, or just twice the number of "no" votes of 3840.

The total vote cast on the bond issue in the thirty-one precincts reporting is 8970 votes, or an average of approximately 290 ballots to each precinct. Figuring on this basis or average, the remaining seven precincts would account for 2030 votes.

Not Enough Votes
Should the impossible result and all these 2030 votes, which are theoretically counted on the average basis, be in favor of the civic center bond issue, the project would fail, inasmuch as the above figures show 2550 votes in favor of the bonds are needed to offset the "anti" vote in the thirty-one precincts already reported.

The balloting on the civic center project yesterday was more than twice as heavy as it was at the special election held September 30, when 4834 votes were cast. The official results, after improperly marked ballots had been thrown out, at the special election September was: Yes, 2,691; No, 1,915.

Vote by Precincts
At the September election the city plan was not submitted. The civic center bond issue was one of ten propositions placed before the people at the special election and all were rejected with the exception of one issue of $60,000 for bonds to be used in providing additional fire stations and equipment.

The strongest opposition developed in the following precincts:

San Diego County Gives 'Silent Cal' Safe Edge

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 5.—With 181 out of 274 precincts in the county and city having reported, President Coolidge has apparently carried San Diego county by a safe margin. The vote: Coolidge, 14,997; La Follette, 11,646; Davis, 1,976; prohibition candidate, 185. Indications based upon the same returns were that San Diego joined with other California counties and repudiated the water and power act, but approved the amendment on 12-round boxing and wrestling. Phil Swing, Congressional candidate from the seventy-ninth district, was unopposed.

G. O. P. STANDARD-BEARER HAS AT LEAST 379 VOTES IN ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Popular Majority to Exceed Seven Million Mark Set by Harding; Republicans Gain Strength in Congress, Returns Show

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge has been elected to succeed himself by a popular majority that is probably unprecedented, and by a majority in the electoral college that has been surpassed but twice in the history of the republic.

Late returns from doubtful states in the west this afternoon emphasized the magnitude of the Republican sweep and assured Coolidge and Dawes 379 votes in the electoral college, a majority of 113, as 266 are necessary to a choice.

The two occasions on which this figure was exceeded were in 1912 when the Republican split allowed Wilson to roll up 435, and in 1920, when Harding polled 404.

In popular majority, Coolidge is expected to exceed the seven million mark established by Harding in 1920.

Up to this afternoon five states had been considered doubtful—Arizona, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada and New Mexico.

Late returns put all but New Mexico in the Republican column. Davis appears to have carried New Mexico by a slight margin, this state and Oklahoma and Tennessee being the only states carried by Davis above what James M. Cox carried.

At Least 379 Votes
On the basis of these returns Coolidge will have 379 votes in the college, Davis 139 and La Follette 13—his native Wisconsin.

The only fly in the Republican ointment is the doubt that exists about a clear cut majority in Congress.

Late returns indicate the Republican landslide carried with it enough Republican candidates for Congress to provide a paper majority of about thirty seats. This is not sufficient to give the Republicans a dependable working majority for a coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans. There are sixteen of these from Wisconsin and the northwest can block the administration on a good occasion.

Gains and Losses
In the Senate the same situation prevails. The Republicans gained seats in Colorado, Kentucky, Massachusetts and Oklahoma—four. They have apparently lost a seat in New Mexico, late returns indicating the defeat of Senator H. O. Bursum by J. S. Bratton, Democrat, and they may yet lose seats in Iowa, where Dan Steck, Democrat, is running ahead of Brookhart, Republican, and in South Dakota, where there

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—Returns from 1,410 precincts out of 3,607 in Minnesota indicate that United States Senator Magnus Johnson (Farmer-Labor) had been defeated for election by the blind Republican congressman Thomas D. Schall. Schall's lead is 26,103. Schall had 201,001 and Johnson 174,898.

Missouri, Half Counted Gives Coolidge Margin

REPUBLICAN VICTORY ASSURED

Coolidge and Dawes Swept Into Office on Crest
Of Landslide

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Calvin Coolidge and General Charles G. Dawes have been swept into the presidency and vice-presidency, respectively, on the crest of a Republican victory that is comparable only to the Harding-Coolidge landslide of four years ago.

The only marked difference between the Republican triumph of four years ago and today is that in 1920 the national ticket carried with it an overwhelming control of both houses of congress, while today it appeared the Republicans will control the house only by a narrow working majority, and in the senate they will have a paper majority of doubtful dependability.

The La Follette question mark, which has so perplexed both Republican and Democratic leaders failed to be much of a question mark after all. This morning it appeared the Wisconsin insurgent carried but one state, his own. He rolled up substantial popular votes in many states, but the size of these did not meet the expectations of his supporters.

Coolidge States
At 8 a. m. with only a few states still in doubt, President Coolidge seemed assured of a vote in the electoral college in excess of 350 against a necessary figure of 266.

On the basis of returns at this hour, Coolidge carried California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

These appeared to be certain and they provide an electoral vote of 357. There was some doubt as to Missouri and North Dakota.

States for Davis
Davis carried Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia—a total of 138 electoral votes.

These four states appeared still in doubt: Arizona, Minnesota, Montana and New Mexico, a total of 21 electoral votes.

Coolidge and Dawes swept through the conservative, industrial and financial east like a hurricane. Pluralities were rolled up in the larger states like New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Michigan that were keenly reminiscent of 1920. In some states it appeared probable this morning that the record breaking figures of 1920 would even be eclipsed by those of 1924.

WHITE HOUSE FAMILY IS SERENE

Added Snap to Stars, Stripes
Over Executive Mansion
Only Outward Change

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The stars and stripes atop the White House snapped out a little more defiantly in the morning breeze today.

And that was the only outward indication that the American people had accorded Calvin Coolidge a lease on the premises at No. 1600 Pennsylvania avenue for a full term of four years and placed in his hands their national destiny. Program at the White House today was "business as usual."

When returns early today indicated a Coolidge-Dawes victory with a substantial majority in the electoral college, the little four-some which had sat together in the president's study during the evening broke up. In the party were the president and Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston. It was Stearns who discovered Calvin Coolidge and who has been steadily directing him towards today's goal—election to the presidency. Among those who waited at the White House for returns, none was more calm or cool than the president.

Congratulations
President Coolidge went to bed at 1 o'clock this morning and up again seven hours later. Breakfast was served at the White House shortly after 8 o'clock, and then Mr. Coolidge took his usual early morning walk through the grounds of the executive mansion, returning to his study to go over the latest returns from the western states.

Among the first callers to offer their congratulations upon the president's victory were Attorney-General Stone, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Acting Secretary of Agriculture Gore.

Thousands of congratulatory telegrams poured into the White House, two special telegraph wires being required to transmit them. A telegram from John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee, congratulating the president on his election, reached the White House shortly before 11 o'clock. Mr. Coolidge immediately dispatched a reply.

Davis Good Loser
Davis said: "Permit me to congratulate you on your sweeping victory and to express the hope that your administration may by its success ensure to the welfare of the country."

In reply President Coolidge said: "Please accept my thanks for your message and my appreciation of the patriotic sentiments you express."

PLURALITY IS PILING UP IN STATE

Coolidge to Lead La Follette
350,000 In California,
Reports Indicate

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—A plurality of between 300,000 and 350,000 for President Coolidge in California over Senator La Follette was indicated by returns today.

The overwhelming victory of the Republican standard bearer in Southern California brought him to the Tehachapi mountains, the dividing line between Northern and Southern California with a lead estimated from 250,000 to 300,000 and Northern California will apparently add 50,000 to those figures.

In 3749 precincts out of 7524 in the state tabulated by International News Service early today Coolidge received 432,285; La Follette 241,680; Davis 54,138.

Congress Unchanged
There was no change in the political complexion of California's congressional delegation. Two Democratic incumbents were returned and nine Republican members elected. In the only contests John D. Fredericks defeated Robert W. Richardson in the tenth district; Walter Lineberger defeated Charles Randall in the ninth and Albert Carter won from John L. Davis.

La Follette apparently carried but eight Northern California counties—Eldorado, Nevada, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Siskiyou, Trinity and Yuba. In several the result is so close later returns may place Coolidge in the lead.

Coolidge carried San Francisco county by upwards of 5000. In Los Angeles his plurality was in the neighborhood of 200,000.

Boxing Bill
Victory for state initiative amendment No. 7, which would legalize twelve round bouts in California was indicated on the face of incomplete returns today. In 1590 precincts largely from the cities 106,005 voted in favor of the measure and 81,119 against it. Defeat of the water and power bill which would have enabled the state to enter the power business on a huge scale was indicated likewise on the face of incomplete returns. The vote with 1506 precincts tabulated on No. 16, the water and power measure, stood: For 68,242; against 103,867.

Scattered returns throughout the state on amendment No. 1 regarding taxation of motor buses using the state highways in competition with railroads indicate that the measure has passed and that vehicular traffic on this nature will have to pay its share of the upkeep of the California highways.

Returns from 1165 precincts gave: Yes, 82,877; no, 74,393.

By MRS. MIRIAM A. FERGUSON
Governor-Elect of Texas

Written Expressly for International News Service.

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 5.—Quickly discerning the Ku Klux Klan camouflage of selecting a Republican nominee for their tool—the Klan means of fastening malignant and poisonous fangs upon the state government—the people of Texas have rejected this monstrous doctrine of dishonor, indecency and lawlessness by electing me their governor.

I am proud of my state and proud of its magnificent and justice-loving people who have shown their confidence in me and given me a distinction never before accorded a woman in the history of the United States.

I will carry into the high office with which my people have entrusted me a firm determination to fulfill to the full limit of my ability the promises I have made them. I shall be governor of all the people of the matchless empire state of Texas, discharge my duty in obedience to my

THANKS SENT PEOPLE BY COOLIDGE

President Pledges Himself
Anew to Promotion of Nation's Welfare

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge pledged himself anew today to the promotion of the welfare of the American people. The pledge was made in a formal statement thanking the electorate for the endorsement of his administration and for returning him to the White House by an overwhelming majority.

"I do not see how possible to me to make an adequate expression concerning the presidency of the United States," the president said. "No other honor equals it, no other responsibility approaches it. When it is conferred by an overwhelming choice of the people and vote of the electoral college, these are made all the greater. I can only express my simple thanks to all the who have contributed to this result and plainly acknowledge that it has been brought to pass through the work of a Divine Providence, of which I am but one instrument.

"Such powers as I have I dedicate to the service of all my country and of all my countrymen. In the performance of the duties of my office I would not ask for anything more than the sympathetic consideration which my fellow Americans have already bestowed upon me. I have no appeal except to the common sense of all the people. I have made no pledge except to serve them. I have no object except to promote their welfare."

Issues Proclamation
The president's statement was issued following an exchange of telegrams between himself and John W. Davis, the defeated Democratic candidate. Almost simultaneously the president issued his annual Thanksgiving day proclamation, setting aside Thursday, November 27, as a day for "national thanksgiving."

"The year has been marked," Mr. Coolidge said, "by a continuation of peace whereby our country has entered into a relationship of better understanding with all the other nations of the earth. Ways have been revealed to us by which we could perform very great service through the giving of friendly counsel, through the extension of financial assistance and through the exercise of a spirit of neighborly friendliness to less favored peoples. We should give thanks for the power which has been given into our keeping, with which we have been able to render these services to the rest of mankind.

Prosperity Here
"At home we have continually had an improving state of public wealth. The production of our industries has been large and our harvests have been bountiful. We have been free from disorder and remarkably successful in all those pursuits which flourish during a state of domestic peace. An abundant prosperity has overspread the land.

"We shall do well to accept all these favors and bounties with a becoming humility and dedicate them to the service of the righteous cause of the Giver of all good and perfect gifts. As the nation has prospered, let all the people show that they are worthy to prosper by rededicating America to the service of God and man."

PAYMENT ON MISS SIBECK PUPILS IN PROGRAM

"Y" FUND RAISED

Members Of Exchange Club Contribute First $200 Of Subscription

Members of the Glendale Exchange club raised $200 by voluntary donations at the meeting held yesterday at the Masonic Temple, the amount to be applied on the club's subscription of $1000 to the Y. M. C. A. building fund. The voluntary contribution method was followed after a motion was made to make a pro-rated assessment against each member had been voted down.

An echo of the civic center campaign was heard when Dr. H. R. Harrower and L. H. Wilson, both members of the club, engaged in a debate which was stopped by President R. E. Johnston. A resolution favoring national game referees and preserves was adopted by the club and the secretary, T. F. Culhane, was instructed to urge senators and congressmen from this district to vote for the measure in Congress next session. The grade crossing amendment which was voted upon yesterday, was approved by the club.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson announced a dinner dance to be given by the club at the Sunset Country club on November 19. H. N. Fowler spoke on the coming visit of state highway officials and the dinner to be tendered them at the Oakmont Country club next Friday night.

A box of apples donated by the Exchange club of Watsonville was distributed at the meeting. The attendance prize, donated by L. H. Wilson, was won by H. C. Shumacher. Dr. Harrower sang two solos, "Mother Machree" and "River Shannon."

COLONIAL QUARTET PLEASES AUDIENCE

Singers Give Program Under Auspices of Glendale Music Club Members

Appearing in quaint colonial costumes, members of the Colonial Mixed quartet, Joy Kingan, soprano; Clemence Johnson, contralto; Ivan Edwards, tenor, and Loren Robinson, basso, entertained Glendale Music club members and friends last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. They gave two song cycles, "The Morning of the Year" (Cushman), and "Floriana" (Arthur Whiting). Miss Lorna Gregg accompanied on the piano.

Preceding the program Miss Myrtle Baldwin, second vice-president, directed a short meeting. She read greetings from Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president, who is convalescing at her foothills home. Announcements were made of the meeting of the artist department, November 21, at the home of Miss Gertrude Cleophas, for a Russian program; of the membership drive committee, for which a prize of $10 is being offered, and of the presentation of "The Messiah," December 16, by the oratorio department. Election returns were received over a Brunswick radio, through the courtesy of Harry James.

P. J. Hayselden Declares Special Number Splendid

P. J. Hayselden, secretary of the Glendale City Planning commission, has sent the following self-explanatory communication to The Glendale Evening News:

"A. T. Cowan, 'Publisher The Evening News, 'Glendale, Calif.

"Dear Sir—The annual Development number of the Glendale Evening News of October 31, 1924, is such, that any newspaper publisher and staff and community may well be proud of its splendid journalistic enterprise. Your Development number merits a community much larger than Glendale, and you are to be congratulated.

"The entire make-up of the paper and particularly the photographic work, the latter not being excelled by the large metropolitan papers, deserves the commendation of its readers.

"Its advertising value and facts to the non-resident is apparent—to our own citizens it is a splendid reference in every particular to our city.

"Very truly yours,
"P. J. HAYSELDEN."

3 ARMED MEN CLUB WOMEN TIE GUARD, 'AT HOME' ROB SAFE AFFAIR

Premier Laundry Scene of Holdup; $200 In Cash and $200 Checks Taken

Three well dressed young men, masked and armed, held up the night watchman at the Premier Laundry Co., 515 Arden avenue, shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, bound him hand and foot, smashed the safe with a sledgehammer and made off with $200 in cash and $200 in endorsed checks.

Edward Williamson of 904 East Raleigh street, the watchman, managed to free himself after the robbers had gone and notified the Glendale police department. R. W. Starr of 951 North Louise street, president of the company, was notified and after questioning of Williamson, stated the three men wore dark suits and caps.

One of them talked with an Irish brogue, he said. Another was called Tom by his companions. They made their entrance through a broken window, then opened the rear door. After holding up and making fast the night watchman, they dragged the safe out of the office into a wash room, where they opened it by knocking off the combination with a sledgehammer. After making their haul they left by the front door.

Detective Sergeant F. C. Williams, fingerprint expert of the Glendale police department, examined the safe this morning and photographed prints found. It is understood police have a clue as a result of fingerprints.

Political Verse Is Product Of Campaign

One of the tense bits of verse that originated during the presidential campaign is from the pen of Mrs. Clarence E. Doolittle, of 719 East Palmer avenue. The verse follows:

It's Coolidge and Dawes,
It's Coolidge and Dawes,
And the reasons are only three:
Welfare of country,
Welfare of state,
And welfare of plain you and me!

PUBLIC GIVEN RETURNS BY THE NEWS

Glendale Evening Paper Has Stereopticon Service for Thousands In City

All Glendale was kept informed of the progress of the election, last night, by the quadruple service offered by The Evening News. Returns were flashed on a big screen directly across the street from The Evening News office at 139 South Brand boulevard; bulletins were announced from the building by megaphone, then rushed to local Coolidge headquarters at 220 South Brand boulevard, where they were posted and read by hundreds. Until after midnight, reporters were kept busy answering telephone calls from Glendaleans who knew of old that The Evening News returns are first.

Service started at 5 o'clock and by 7 o'clock immense crowds had gathered in front of The Evening News building. Great throngs had also centered at local Coolidge headquarters at an early hour, where they remained until the outcome seemed certain.

Stereopticon service offered by The Evening News proved particularly popular with motorists, and until near midnight a continuous procession of cars streamed down Brand boulevard, dragging to a snail's pace as they passed the big rectangle where the returns were being flashed on a screen.

While the returns were thus being relayed to the Glendale public by its daily newspaper, through four different channels, many who had gathered outside the three-story building that houses The Evening News plant availed themselves of the opportunity to see the new $40,000 Duplex tubular press in operation.

A. T. Cowan, publisher and proprietor of The Evening News, was present in the offices until a late hour and personally greeted many of the visitors. So congested became the paper, sharing with them the enthusiasm engendered by the rapid and efficient news-gathering services drafted into use for the occasion.

Crowds in the street outside The Evening News building increased hourly and gradually split into three sections: one on the east side of the street, one on the west and a dense throng sandwiched in between the Pacific Electric tracks, in the middle of the street. So congested became the traffic that special officers were assigned by Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, to keep lanes open for north and south bound traffic, and to prevent spectators from being injured.

Extra of Los Angeles papers were shouted in the streets but created no excitement. All the news of the elections they contained was being bulletinized by the four-fold service of The Glendale Evening News, from an hour to two hours ahead of them. It is a thorough and overwhelming victory for the local paper, and was conceded as such by the thousands who received their election returns from it.

Efficient Service
Upstairs in the editorial department, a drama of modern daily newspaper efficiency was being enacted. Bulletins that came over the wire were transcribed on the typewriter in triplicate by the managing editor, rushed to the managing editor and separated, one copy going to the megaphone operator, one to local Coolidge headquarters and the other to a copy editor, who rapidly and accurately transcribed them upon Radio-Mat slides, for reproduction on the big stereopticon screen across the street.

Other workers in the editorial department received the reports from the thirty-eight local precincts, checked and totaled them and turned them over to the managing editor, who incorporated them in his bulletin services.

Nothing was left undone to cover the election in the most thorough manner, from every angle, and give the results to the public in the most condensed, accurate form, with the least possible delay. No metropolitan newspaper functioned more efficiently or smoothly, last night, in receiving and disseminating the election returns, it was generally conceded, than did The Glendale Evening News, and this morning the telephones were busy ringing congratulations on the greatest victory of Glendale's daily newspaper.

GLENDALE REALTY BOARD TAKES BIG STRIDE AHEAD

President Hanson in Report Credits Rapid Progress to Co-operation of Members, City Council and Newspapers

Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty Board, at a meeting today of the Board, made his annual report in which, among other things, he credits the success of the year's work to the cooperation accorded by a loyal membership, efficient committee service and publicity by the newspapers. The report follows:

"Upon assuming office your president submitted his annual message outlining a proposed program for the year. Chief among those suggestions was an adequate accounting system, revision of the constitution, need of adequate quarters and office equipment, educational course, social activities, necessity of putting across sewer campaign, and selection of our own state directors, keeping ever in mind a Greater Glendale.

"Likening the year ahead to a splendid cruise, we then cut loose from our moorings, and now under a clear sky and a favorable breeze we come to the end of our journey and cast anchor in the port of Greater Glendale. It is fitting, therefore, that we should here record our chartings and summarize the happenings en route.

Co-operation Credited
"And at the outset I am prompted to stress that full credit for the year's work must be accorded to a loyal membership and efficient committee service. Every suggestion of your president has been met with instant and hearty response. The only answer to such loyalty is achievement, and the winning of the C. C. C. Tatum cup is its fitting reward. To have served with you has been a privilege, and while the honor conferred has entailed some effort, both in the results attained for the board, and the recompense of abiding friendships.

"I also would pay tribute to the newspapers. Much of our growth and standing we owe to the splendid publicity of our local papers. Here thanks is small appreciation of the efforts of our ever faithful and loyal reporters who have kept us in the public eye. No other board in the state receives such favorable recognition.

"Nor would I forget our obligation to State President Barbour and State Secretary Willman and our own vice-president Guthrie;

That which is done for self dies. You say it is pleasure—well, enjoy it. But joyous recollection is no longer joy. That which ends in self is mortal; that alone which goes out of self into God lasts forever.—Frederick W. Robertson.

PEOPLE HAVE SPOKEN—COOLIDGE AND PROSPERITY

At yesterday's election the people, by their ballots, spoke in no uncertain language as to their confidence in the Coolidge administration. The vote was a large one and the casting of ballots was accomplished by unusual thoughtfulness. Indeed, the national campaign just closed marks an important event in the history of our republic.

The time had come when certain shortcomings and wrong doings of members of the party in power became rightfully suspected, and this led to condemning the actions of all members of the party, and certain politicians placed blame on the president of the United States.

Then followed the campaign of a crucial test. The test was an exhaustive and thorough one. The newspapers, magazines and journals of national circulation conducted the hearing, and for four months evidence was heard by a fair and impartial jury, comprising the voters of the whole United States.

After hearing the evidence and giving it intelligent and thoughtful consideration, the great jury of millions of men and women retired to their respective voting places yesterday and rendered a decision declaring Calvin Coolidge a safe and capable man to serve as president of the United States for the next four years.

The trial has been closed, and may the evidence on record be a warning to those members of the party in power, whose actions reflected discredit on the whole administration, to withdraw forever from participating in graft politics.

In the presidential campaign just closed, the party lines were forgotten; the whole issue involved was one of principle and the continuation of an administration that would have the confidence of the people, and the victory has been won; prosperity has been assured, and the Ship of State enters on a voyage of safety.

SIN OF AFFECTATION

In the vernacular of the younger set are some phrases which, in the way they are used, do not mean much of anything. One of these is, "Be yourself." And, while the term is given the flavor of slang, it is very good advice. And, it is to the credit of the generation that coined the phrase and uses it that it is freer from affectation than some that have gone before.

While it may seem that the girl who uses cosmetics lavishly is trying to appear something which she is not, she is so frank about it that she cannot be accused of deceit. The young woman and the young man of today, whatever faults they may have, are singularly free from that of wishing to appear what they are not or assuming any qualities which do not belong to them naturally. In fact, they carry matters a little too far the other way. They are sometimes proud to show themselves just as they are when there is no occasion for pride.

Affectation is the sure sign of weakness. When one pretends to qualities he does not possess, he acknowledges that those qualities are superior to those he has. Affectation is so easily recognized, too. It is all but impossible to assume traits of character which are not inherent in us, or to feign positions we do not occupy, and carry it off naturally. "Be yourself."

DRY POSITION STRONGER

Calling attention to the fact that the eighteenth amendment did not play a very important part in the discussions in the recent presidential campaign, the Review of Reviews says:

"The logic of the situation is so clearly in favor of the vigorous enforcement of the laws that candidates in general have found it necessary to say that they would do their best to break up illegal practices. It is the dries rather than the wets who seem to have strengthened their position in the course of this year's campaign."

"There is distinct reaction against bootlegging, moonshining and smuggling. The rum fleets along the coast are finding that our new arrangements with foreign governments are making their infamous traffic much more hazardous. The light wine and beer proposals are not gaining in favor. Colonel Roosevelt in New York has come out in support of the enactment of a law to take the place of the Mullan-Gage enforcement act that was repealed under Governor Smith's influence. Upon the whole the Prohibition cause seems to have gained more than it lost during the political contest of 1924."

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY

Attorney General Stone holds that the publication of income tax lists is illegal and not in conformity with the intention of Congress in enacting the limited publicity section of the new tax law. A test case will be presented to the courts for final determination, however.

Publishing of income tax lists can answer no good purpose whatever save the satisfying of the curiosity of some people. It may be advantageous to have the lists open to inspection, but there is very little information to be secured from the amount of the tax paid, after all. For instance, it is said that Swift and Armour and others who are conducting business on the same scale as these Chicago packers, filed no income tax returns at all.

It may be interesting for movie fans to read that Dotty Dimple paid $10,000 income tax, and Dotty may be perfectly satisfied to have the fact made public along with other intimate details of her life. But most people believe that some things should be personal and private, and that the amount of income tax paid is one of them.

LEGAL BLACKMAIL

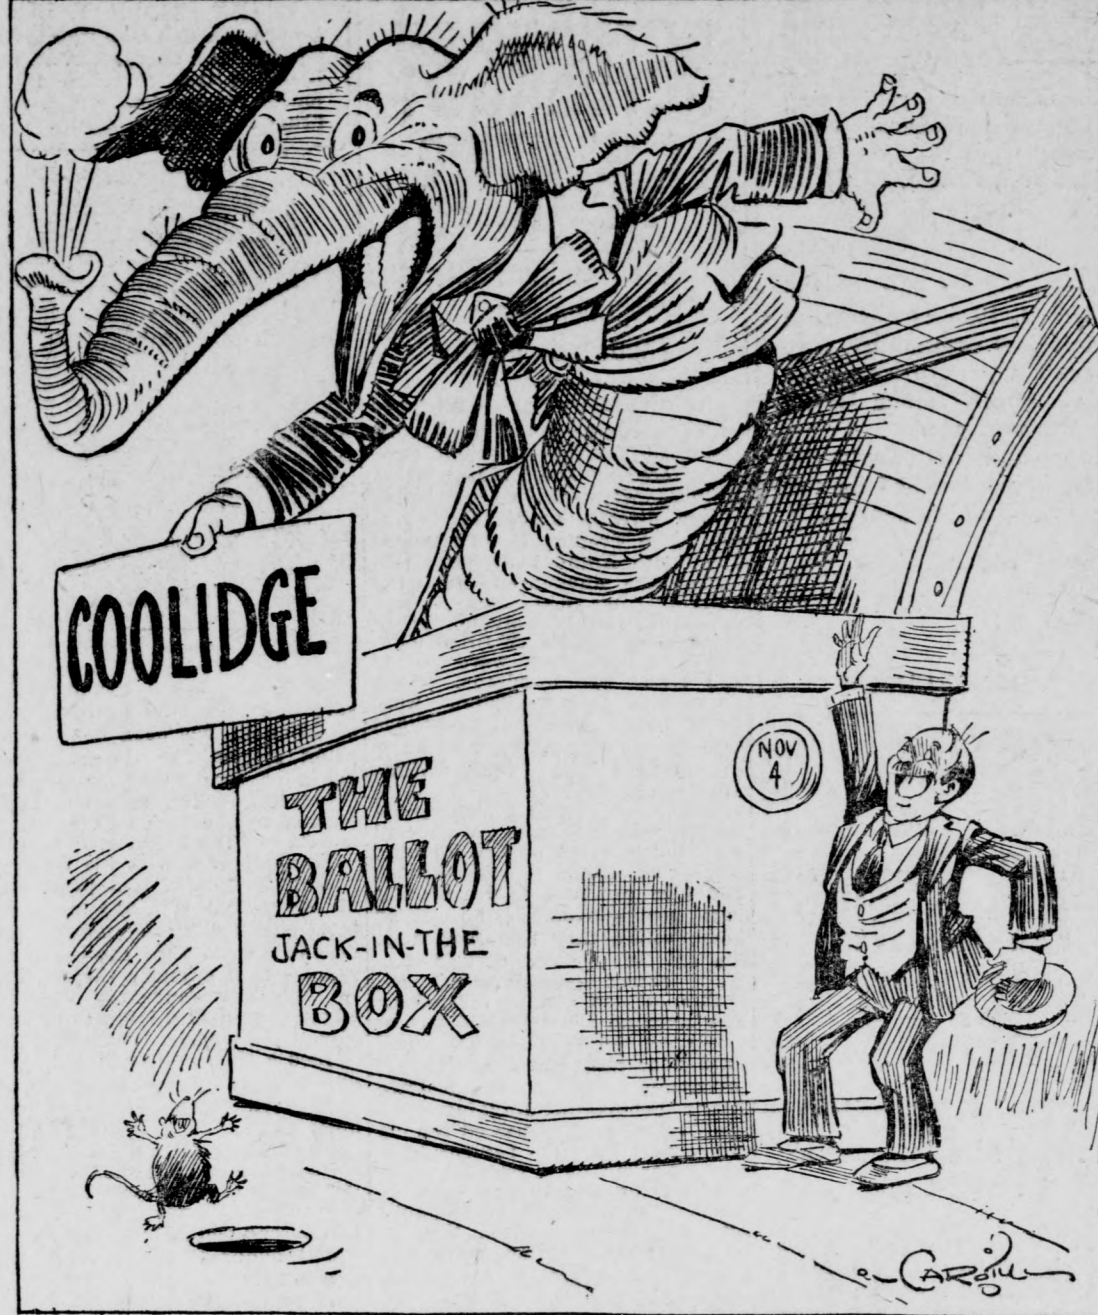

Breach of promise suits involving hundreds of thousands of dollars help to clutter up the calendars in our courts. Many of these suits are nothing more or less than legal blackmail. In very few cases is a woman entitled to recompense in litigation of this kind. If the man has money which she expected to get, she is unfortunate, but why is she entitled to it and why should the court help her to get it?

Damages are asked for wounded pride, but when a woman has any pride and it is injured by a man refusing to marry her the last thing she would do would be to go into court and set a price upon her affections.

Breach of promise actions have become a recognized form of commerce in which women consider it the privilege of their sex to pry out of men large sums of money they have not earned. Men are even inveigled into promises of marriage for this purpose. Most of these cases are only one degree more respectable than those in which a man is compromised or "framed" in order to extort blackmail from him.

Even the common house fly does his daily buzzin'.

HOO-RAY!!

The Tragedy of Motherhood

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Recently a play, written by Martha Stanley, was produced in New York under the title of "My Son."

It was an illustration of the tragedy of motherhood.

The mother instinct is doubtless the strongest in the human race. It goes back to animal life and is one of the deepest and most secure of our emotions.

A man will live a long while, but never find a friend who is invariably well disposed to him like a mother.

The mother has an unshakable belief in the goodness of her offspring. It is not a belief founded upon intelligence, nor reason, but one which has its roots deep in the fundamental emotions.

Nothing can ever change it. No acts on the part of the son can alter it. Even when he is proved culpable or unworthy, the affection still remains and a mother is quick to find excuses for all that he does.

Wherever there be other ties, they can be broken. Friends leave us, wives can get disgusted and quit, brothers and sisters can be alienated, but mother love continues down to her dying day.

This love even prompts the mother to do things that are injurious to her child. She is apt to want to give him advantages and sacrifices herself for him, when, as a matter of fact, he needs no sacrifice, but hard knocks that shall enable him to stand upon his own feet.

It is an interesting and tragic thing to reflect that there is no rapscallion in the country, not a thug nor a criminal, nor a ne'er-do-well, but there is, back somewhere in the offing, the shrouded figure of a mother who believes in him.

Doubtless this unchanging affection is necessary in order to hold the world together, but it is not always happy for its possessor. When a man wrecks his own life by his indiscretion he knows that he is injuring and paining her who gave him birth more than himself or any other person.

The great tragedy of wrong-doing is not found in the wrong-doers so much as in the mothers of them.

Horoscope

Saturn in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Mars is strongly adverse.

All the signs presage wonderful prosperity for industry and success for organized labor, which will gain great financial power. The moon in conjunction with Mars inclines to great physical activity and should stimulate all handwork.

The aged should benefit by access of strength and increased energy.

Many famous men and women will end their careers before the winter has far advanced.

It must be remembered by all who recognize their own reactionary tendencies that a new era has dawned and that they must conform to changed conditions. Scandals regarding waste of public money again will be much discussed and new revelations are foretold.

Mars in the fourth house indicates heavy storms and even floods in certain parts of the country. The west will have great quantities of rain and snow.

Again the death of a king or ruler is prognosticated, while Norway comes under a discouraging rule.

Trouble for the Labor government in England being indicated, but it will press sweeping changes that have far reaching effect, the seers prophesy.

Volcanic eruptions will disturb the south of Europe which is still under a sinister sway of the stars.

Persons whose birth date it is have the augury of a routine year in which they should be fairly successful. Those who are employed may expect promotion.

Children born on this day should be very clever, unusually brave and always successful. Those subjects of Scorpio know how to manage their own affairs, which usually are very prosperous.

Today's Poem

Let me but find it in my heart to day,
In field or forest, at the desk or loom,
In roaring market-place or tranquil room;
Let me but find it in my heart to say,

When vagrant wishes beckon me astray,
"This is my work; my blessing;
Of all who live, I am the one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way."

Then shall I see it not too great,
Nor small,
To suit my spirit and to prove
Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours

And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall
At eventide, to play and love and rest,
Because I know for me my work is best.

—Henry Van Dyke.

10 Years Ago

The Lyons family has forsaken the beautiful home at Sycamore and Chester and is domiciled at 1455 West Broadway for the winter. The heavy waters of the North Glendale wash during the winter past endangered the home and safety of its occupants.

Several attractive bungalows are being erected in the neighborhood of Burchett and Central avenue. The opening of Orange street north of Burchett is adding much in the way of improvement to that locality.

At the high school student body meeting the budget for student activities was announced. The total is approximately $475.

The secret of making sugar perfectly white was discovered through accident when a hen that had been walking in a muddy place perambulated into a sugar house and left tracks on a pile of sugar. When the tracks dried it was noticed that the sugar beneath them was whiter than elsewhere. In this way it was discovered that sugar could be refined by the use of wet clay.

Who's Who

Thirty years ago Charles M. Kittle was glad to get a job as water boy for a section gang on the Illinois Central railroad. He had visions, though—visions of himself at an executive's desk, in the main offices of that road, directing some part of the operation of it.

That vision came true. He worked his way up to the senior vice presidency of the Illinois Central.

Recognition did not stop there, however. The other day a successor to Julius Rosenwald as president of Sears, Roebuck and Co., was named and Kittle was the man chosen.

Rosenwald, president since 1910, has been named chairman of the board of directors.

Smiles

THE CRISIS
A certain canny Scotsman had carried on a courtship of long duration without definitely committing himself. The girl, if she worried herself at the long probation, gave no sign until one morning she found him thumbing a small notebook, said:

"Maggie, I have been weighing up your good points, and I have already gotten ten. When I get a dozen I'm goin' to ask ye the fatal question."

"Well, I wish ye luck, Jock," answered the maiden. "I have also gotten a wee book, and I have been puttin' doon your bad points. There are nineteen in it already, and when it reaches the score I'm gain accept the blacksmith."

NEW VIEWPOINT

John Dos Passos, the youthful novelist, said at a Greenwich Village dance: "The old were to blame for the war, and they are to blame for all our post-war mess."

"Respect for old age is silly unless it is the old age of a good and wise person. Old age in itself is not a thing to be respected. Why, is there a man or woman alive so foolish as to respect old age in an egg?"

EMERGENCY RATIONS

"Where's my whisk broom, Mary?" asked the professor. "You ate it for breakfast, sir," replied the maid. "The other cereal was all gone."

If You Came From Illinois THEN YOU KNOW THAT:

The state has an area of 56,665 square miles.

Illinois is one continuous plain with a gentle inclination to the southwest.

It is somewhat hilly toward Ohio undulating to the west with a range of bluffs along the Mississippi river.

There is a greater proportion of arable land in Illinois than in any other state in the Union. The soil is deep and rich.

The Illinois river is 500 miles long and is navigable half the distance. It traverses the state from northeast to southwest. The Rock, the Kaskaskia and the Wabash are important rivers and there are many smaller streams.

Indian corn, oats and other grains, and fruits are very largely grown.

Domestic animals are raised in abundance, swine in large numbers.

Illinois ranks next to Pennsylvania in the amount of coal produced.

The climate is humid but healthful.

Illinois boasts a greater development of railways than any other state.

The University of Chicago is one of the best endowed and largely attended of American seats of learning. The University of Illinois at Urbana is one of the largest of the state universities. Northwestern University at Evanston is also largely attended.

Chicago is the principal commercial depot.

Springfield is the capital. Agriculture and manufacturing are the chief industries of the state.

Illinois was admitted to the Union in 1818.

FACTS GIVEN ABOUT OIL CHANCES

Investor Has 1,112 Chances
In 1,800 On Cashing In
On Promotion Deal

By L. C. OWEN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Hopeful persons who invest their hard earned savings in oil promotion schemes easily may gather an object lesson in too much trustfulness if they will check the performance records of a few of the many oil stock selling companies floated in Southern California during the past four years. In that interval the investing public has contributed something like $360,000,000 to such rainbow chasing enterprises and most of it has gone into worthless holes in the ground, or into the laps of suave promoters.

The cash saving information which chronic oil stock buyers will assimilate by such an investigation will be that every dollar sunk in such concerns has 1672 chances out of 1800 or never being heard from again, 112 chances out of 1800 that it may earn the donor as much as six per cent for brief intervals and then forever disappear, 28 chances to 1800 that it may double or treble itself, 11 chances out of 1800 that it will live up to the rosy prognostications of plausible promoters.

Record "Clean Up"
These figures are not the figments of somebody's imagination. The ratios were obtained from the records of 1800 oil stock selling schemes promoted in this section of the state during the hectic days of the Signal Hill, Santa Fe Springs, Huntington Beach and Rockfield oil strikes.

In these four years, stock promoters put over the greatest "clean up" this country ever suffered—or probably ever will suffer. In the wake of the clean-up, however, have stalked suffering and frequently tragedy. Expected pots of gold at the oil rain bowls end, all too often have turned into to dress or—nothing.

Not So Good
Of the original 1800 oil stock concerns toward which a gullible public in four years contributed $360,000,000—some of them capitalized at $250,000 with nothing more than a town lot lease as initial assets—less than 400 survive today. Almost 300 of the 400 survive only on paper; their treasures long since have been exhausted. Only 112 out of the 400 ever paid dividends and these usually were so negligible as to be less than a bank would pay in interest for the same money on deposit.

There are occasions when oil stock investments live up to the rosy forecasts always made by promoters. But such occasions, as is shown by the records, are painfully negligible. Of the 1800 oil stock promotions only 11 have justified, in part at least, the faith of the investor. Three such concerns have paid as much as 15 for 1. Six returned from 8 to 12 for 1, and two from 5 to 7 for one. Another 20 have paid from 2 to 3 for one.

Except for 263 stock selling companies floated during the current year which have not had chance to go broke yet, the remainder of the 1800—1536 in all—never returned a penny to stock holders.

Although 1536 stock selling companies out of 1800 have never paid dividends that does not mean that all of them failed to find oil. There are scores of cases where such concerns drilled one or more highly profitable wells. But if, as has happened here numerous times, the stock selling company "hits it" all the promoter has to do is vote himself a salary equal to all the profits in sight. It has been done here quite often.

If there is any doubt on the part of intending oil stock investors that the average oil promoters policy is like that of the professional gambler and gold brick artist Heads I win, tails you lose—Southern California's record of 1800 such promotions ought to prove it.

Idaho Goes Down Line Solidly for Coolidge

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 5.—Gem state has gone down the line solidly for Coolidge and Senator William E. Borah. Vote in 400 precincts out of 850 in Idaho gives Coolidge 34,100; La Follette 26,100; Davis 11,400. Senator Borah, it is expected, will run far ahead of his ticket and has a 4 to 1 majority over his Democratic opponent, General Frank Martin. Governor Moore, Republican, has won by several thousand votes. Congressman French has been returned in the first district and Addison T. Smith has been elected in the second congressional district.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—An order for the arrest for deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prize fighter, was ordered dismissed today by the department of labor.

Three new members of the board of directors were also elected at today's meeting. They are Mr. Boland, Mr. Gilhuly and J. E. Barney.

Mr. Twining and Mr. Boland were candidates for the presidency. Mr. Gilhuly and Mr. Truitt were unopposed. Other candidates for places on the board of directors were John Galvin, J. W. Pearson, O. M. Newby, James Rhoades and D. C. Castleman.

Members of the board who hold over from the present administration are W. A. Horn, E. P. Hayward, Peter Hanson, W. L. Truitt, W. L. Twining, L. H. Wilson, all elected, and C. D. Thom and C. B. Guthrie, appointed by reason of their being the two last past presidents of the board.

Board members who are retiring from office are Roy D. King, C. W. Ingledue and James W. Pearson. Charles E. Guthrie, who has served on the board during the past year by virtue of being a past president, also is retired under the adjusted rule in this regard.

Mystery Bomb Nearly Wrecks Catholic Church

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 5.—An explosion of undetermined origin partially wrecked the Santa Cruz Catholic church and priests' quarters adjoining here today. The blasting was an act of vandalism by enemies of the church, in charge of Carmelite fathers, according to police, who have launched an investigation. Police believe a dynamite bomb may have been placed in the church.

L. A. EXCHANGE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Optimistic over the election results traders on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange were inclined to promote a bear market.

In the utilities list Edison preferred sold at $105, while common rose from $99 to $99.75. Los Angeles Gas & Electric was firm at $88.50.

Los Angeles Investment stock sold up from $3.88 to $3.92 and seems due to hit $4 before a recession.

Standard Oil of California also was strong, selling at $59.25 and $60. Julian issues were down a fraction while Holly Development dropped a penny and sold at $1.20.

In the mines Gold Dust was a big seller at 4 1/2 cents while 2000 shares of Telluride sold at 5 cents.

Bond sales were active with firm prices. Southern California being the leader.

Prompt Service on Returns by Evening News Is Praised

That The Glendale Evening News service on election returns last night was prompt, efficient and highly satisfactory was reflected in a letter received today from O. M. Ennis, manager of Yo Market Place on Los Feliz road, where election returns, relayed by telephone from The Glendale Evening News office, were given.

Mr. Ennis in his letter to A. T. Cowan said: "We wish to express our appreciation of the service rendered us in supplying Yo Market Place with election returns. Your service was prompt and efficient and greatly appreciated by the people in this vicinity."

The Evening News also furnished election returns to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

GLENDAL E IS STRONG FOR COOLIDGE

Heavy Majority Goes to Republicans; Count Is Slow In Ending

Glendale went strong for Coolidge—just how strong it will not be known until tomorrow, for some of the precincts are still counting as this edition of The Glendale Evening News goes to press. However, complete returns from a number of the precincts show the Republican candidates have an overwhelming majority.

Hartley Shaw, candidate for judge of the superior court of Los Angeles county, a resident of Glendale, was given a big vote by his home city.

Incomplete returns show Glendale favored the bond issue for removal of grade crossings. The water and power proposition met defeat here. The fish and game district was supported.

Walter Lineberger, candidate for re-election as congressman was given a big majority and Frank C. Weller, candidate for state assembly and a resident of Glendale was elected by a great majority.

Count Is Late
Swamped by voters going to the polls yesterday, for it is estimated seventy-five per cent of Glendale's registration of about 16,000 voted, election officers were tired today after an all night count and the recording of the ballots proceeded slowly.

Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon but twenty-four out of the thirty-eight precincts in Glendale had turned in their complete count to the county deputies stationed at the Glendale city hall. Some precincts say they may not complete the count until midnight or tomorrow morning.

is a nip and tuck fight between McMaster, Republican, and Cherry, Democrat.

The Iowa fight may terminate in a loss for the Republicans. Brookhart is La Follette's chief lieutenant in the Senate, more often against the administration than with it, and Steckle is a Democrat.

The balance of power seems certain to remain vested in the little group of insurgent Republicans, as it has been in the last Senate.

Late returns may yet give Brookhart a victory. His chief strength lies in the rural districts, slow to report, and Steckle's lead is none too commanding.

Why Keep On Paying This Tax?

Everybody expects to pay some taxes, but why impose unnecessary taxes on yourself?

Do you realize that every time you drive your car on an unpaved highway you are actually taxing yourself one to four cents a mile?

This is the cost of increased repair, tire and gasoline bills.

Highway research has definitely established these facts.

Each year you tax yourself in this way a good many dollars.

Instead of spending this money for increased transportation costs, why not invest it in Concrete Highways and pay yourself some dividends?

Concrete Roads and Streets pay for themselves in the saving they effect on the cost of motoring.

Their maintenance cost is so low that this saving alone returns good dividends on the investment, year after year.

You are imposing an unnecessary tax on yourself from which you get no return, by failing to work for more Concrete Highways.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support.

Tell them you are ready to invest in more Concrete Highways, now.

Will Your Gas Range Do This?

LET'S pretend it's Thanksgiving Day. The family is going to the matinee, and friends are coming for six o'clock dinner. It's the maid's day off. What will you do? "Why—there's only one answer," you say, "stay home and cook the dinner." And your answer is quite correct, unless—you own a Dangler Gas Range equipped with the

LORAIN OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

You see, women who own Lorain-equipped Gas Ranges can cook a Whole Meal—soup, vegetables, meat and dessert—in the oven at one time. While the meal is cooking they can go to the matinee, football game, visiting, or do other work about the house for three, four or five hours.

At the end of the pre-determined time the entire dinner will be found deliciously done and ready to serve—and all cooked without spending one minute in the kitchen.

Now, will your gas range do that? Or will it do any of these things? Does it enable you to do all your canning in the oven by the sterilization process—the easiest, surest quickest and best way to can. And, are you absolutely certain every time you place a pie, a cake, cookies, biscuits or bread in the oven that they'll come out "just right" every time?

If you can't do these things with your gas range you should be willing to make most any sacrifice to buy one equipped with the Lorain Oven Heat Regulator, which makes all these things possible.

We'll be glad to explain and demonstrate the remarkable advantages of the Lorain Oven Heat Regulator, the device that measures and automatically controls the heat of the oven. Come to our store and learn for yourself.

Dangler Gas Ranges are Lorain-equipped

A good baker because the heat is distributed evenly to all parts of oven. Oven is extra deep and has proper ventilation. Valves seen from ovens and broilers high enough to prevent stooping. The Dangler is neat, durable, easy to keep clean. There is a variety of sizes and styles to fit all needs.

Be sure to attend our Cooking School every Thursday, 2 to 5 p. m., conducted by the well known household economist, Mrs. Rose Conover. Special feature: Free drawing on two wonderful pies.

REPORT IS MADE BY PETER HANSON

Head of Real Estate Board
Tells of Accomplishments
By Organization

sive committee service tells the story of our success.

"Summarizing then, rather than going into a detailed survey, we find that:

Work Summarized
"1. We have instituted an adequate accounting and audit system;

"2. Our constitution has just been revised and brought down to date with all members in perfect harmony and accord;

"3. With just pride we have moved into centrally located offices, having separate rooms for directors and committees, with furnishings and office equipment valued at $1000;

"4. For the first time in our history we conducted an educational course covering "Fisher's Principles of Real Estate Practice" in fourteen lectures with an average attendance of nearly seventy;

"5. Over 200 sat down at our first annual banquet, honored with state and national officers and distinguished visiting guests, while "hi-jinx" and "initiation night" were other social high lights;

"6. Our weekly luncheon meetings had an average attendance of sixty at which was discussed really matters as well as civic problems;

"7. Eighty members attended the multiple listing conference here, nine were present at the Riverside conference, thirteen attended the El Centro conference, seventy-five registered at the state convention at Pasadena, from which we brought home several cups, medals and honors, while we had two delegates at the Washington convention;

Snug Money Balance
"8. All disputes and complaints have been settled by arbitration; while 108 names of law violations were certified to the state real estate commission for investigation and enforcement;

"9. Continued 100 per cent three way board, brought about the nomination of our own state directors, and have service of eight members on state committees;

"10. Paid $500 toward the Pasadena Tournament of Roses float; pledged $1000 for the new Y. M. C. A. building; subscribed the last $12,000 needed to put across the Hotel Glendale, and paid all current bills monthly closing the year with a snug balance in the treasury;

"11. But our crowning achievement was the putting across of the $1,600,000 sewer bond campaign, 10 to 1, and the Greater Glendale parade numbering 973. This established our reputation as civic leaders and won the public confidence;

"12. This covering of our board, state and national activities for the good of our profession, has likewise found response in every civic call for the upbuilding of our city, so that the good name and standing of the Glendale Realty board is now paramount, not only in our own city but in state and national ranking.

President's Activities
"Nor would this report be complete without some accounting of the activities of your president which is herewith submitted:

"1. Attended forty-four of the fifty-one regular board meetings and two of the three special meetings;

"2. Attended forty-seven of the fifty-four directors' meetings;

"3. Had nine meetings with the officers planning work;

"4. Held 112 committee meetings;

"5. Heard twenty-seven complaints, adjusted some for the state Real Estate commissioner, referred some to Arbitration committee, and persuaded others to adjust their differences for the good of the profession;

"6. Attended state conferences at Glendale, Riverside and El Centro, besides state and national conventions, and distributed 5000 pieces of board advertising at Washington;

"7. Attended four banquets of other boards, spoke eight times for the board, and whenever requested wrote and had published articles covering the scope and purpose of our work;

Favorable Publicity

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Calvin Coolidge has been elected president by an overwhelming majority. Despite the apathetic interest displayed by the public in the campaign, they marched almost solidly to the polls and voted for a continuation of Republican prosperity.

In Glendale the high percentage—somewhere around eighty out of every one hundred registered—who cast their ballots establishes this city as an interested electorate, despite the fact there was little ado during the days preceding the election.

Other Republican candidates were swept into office with the tide of Coolidge votes, which practically assures him success in any national program. Locally, Congressman Lineberger was victorious, as was Congressman John D. Fredericks.

Few words of dissatisfaction are to be heard today. Only two things were noted by the writer on election day which seem worthy of comment. One was the late voting, the other the apathetic interest displayed by officials in completing the returns. Of course, counting ballots is a big job, but why not have two shifts of officials, one to serve during the day, when the polls are open, and the other to take up the clerical work afterwards? In that manner it would be possible to get together a group of bank clerks and accountants who would clear up the work before morning.

Americans are noted for their apathy. They love to be late. They dearly enjoy letting things go until the last minute for action. And, what is more, they get away with it.

As a result, the so-called Yankee spirit of ingenuity shows itself. The American rushes into a business deal, a social engagement, or only a luncheon, makes the most of it, and gets out again.

An Englishman takes two hours for lunch. An American does well to get twenty minutes. The Englishman gets the goat and the American has dyspepsia. Modus operandi is different, but results are the same—both go to the hospital.

There is a little difference between gout and dyspepsia. The man with the former is carried into the hospital and walks out. The dyspeptic walks in and usually gets carried out.

If you are interested in football you will likely know as much as the writer about the squabble engaged in by the University of Southern California, the University of California and Stanford.

There seems to be a moral in the whole affair that is overlooked by the parties concerned. It is, briefly, this: "Money ruins all sports." It periodically smears baseball. It has curtailed prize fighting. It has outlawed racing in this state. When gate receipts are given more consideration than sportsmanly conduct, there is bound to be a falling out.

University of California very carefully took no chances with the game being halted last Saturday. Five minutes before play the momentous announcement was made that, following the Stanford game next Saturday, the Trojans would be persona non grata.

But it took the Southern California university to handle the situation off the field better than their coach did on the gridiron. They have declared the Stanford game cancelled. The first two rounds were against them, but the third is all theirs, in the parlance of the squared circle.

The writer had the pleasure of riding on the 1100 type cars of the Pacific Electric on the harbor boat train recently. There are many of them standing ready for service. It may be these cars would materially speed up Glendale line schedules. With double entrances and exits, all-steel construction and more speed than the present 500 types, it might be well for Glendale boosters to make serious requests for the new cars.

Does not the Good Book say: "Ask and ye shall receive?"

Our projected publicity has won enduring fame for our board, and proclaimed the "Fastest Growing City" throughout the land, and all this cost free.

Our thought for the future suggests these recommendations:

"1. That we develop a still closer touch with our state and national associations and a fuller support of the state magazine, which has afforded us invaluable publicity.

"2. That we cultivate a mutual understanding with our banks, whose work is so inter-related with ours.

"3. That a studied effort be made to reduce our overhead in proportion to our income.

"4. That our educational and library work be put on a permanent and enduring basis.

"5. That thought be given to the securing of a board attorney, affording free consultation for members.

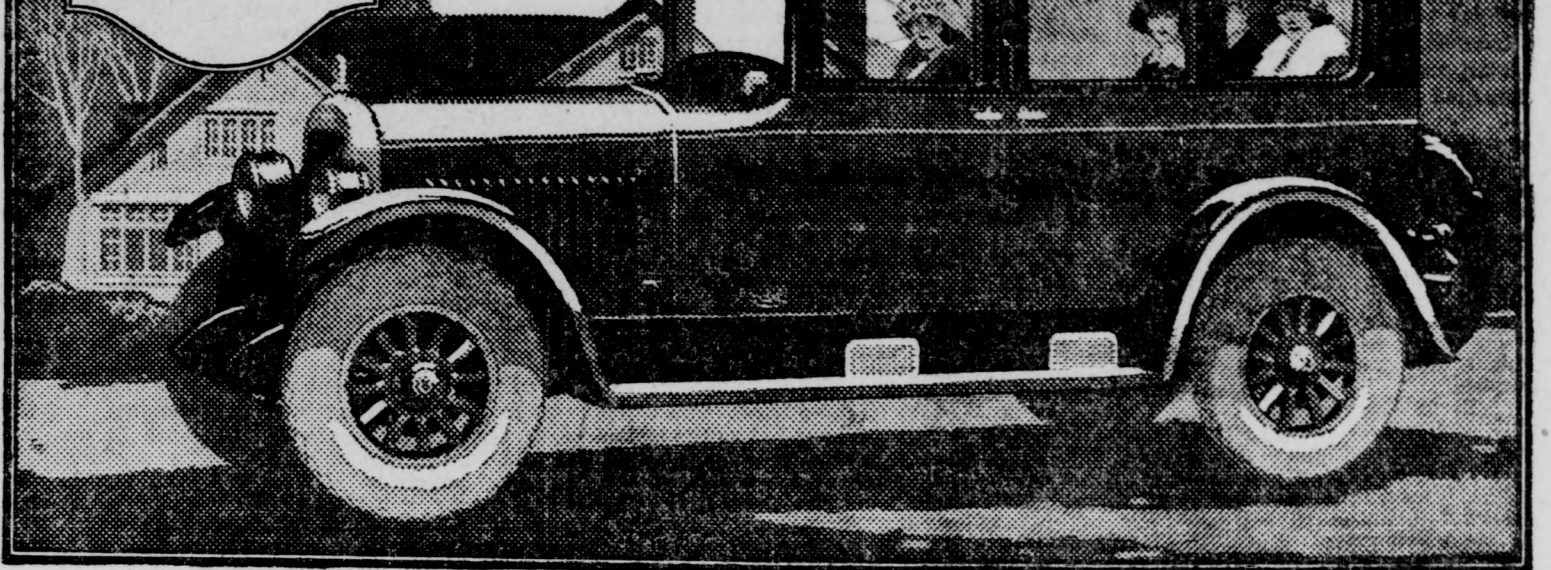

"6. That we cherish the hope of a really board building with adequate headquarters for handling all our work, and thus taking our rightful place among the leading boards of the country.

"These, then, are our chartings. They record figures and trace our good times and fellowship together, nor that animating spirit backer of it all that we call board personality. The figures may be forgotten but this spirit will abide. We did our best, and now that the cruise is over we covet your approval. The weather was favorable, we avoided the rocks; our port was certain and we take leave with cherished memories. To each and all my heartfelt thanks.

To the new crew at the helm my loyal support and a God-speed."

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

"I can't think—really I can't think, Grant, what possessed me in those days," she murmured reminiscently. Otto was so furiously in love with me, and he was so violent. I hesitated and then he seemed to have it all his own way. And I rather wanted to be a Princess."

"Don't let's talk about the past," he begged, his mouth hardening a little. "The only correct philosophy is to live from day to day. Let us talk about today, and then tomorrow."

"Grant dear," she expostulated, "you mustn't make love to me like this before everybody. Prince Lutrecht always comes here to lunch and Cornelius Blunn arrived early this morning."

"Cornelius Blunn," Grant repeated. "One of the most interesting men in Europe, I should think."

"He is an intimate friend of my husband's," she remarked drily, "and for a widower, he's rather great on the domestic virtues. If we meet him I'll present you."

"How much of the rest of your day will I be permitted to claim?" he enquired. "I should think we could dodge this virtue-loving millionaire somehow or other."

"But what about poor Mr. Lyman?" she demanded. "He has sent me a roomful of roses already this morning."

"Life," Grant declared, "is going to be full of disappointments for that young man."

"Meanwhile," she suggested, smiling, "supposing we leave off talking nonsense for a little time. I should like to hear some more about Baron Naga."

"Have you been up to the Villa this morning?"

"Yes, I went up to see if there was anything I could do. They were terribly upset, of course."

"Why did he come all the way from Nice at that time of the night?" she asked for the second time.

"There was no particular reason that I know of, except that things are not going quite so smoothly as they should at the Conference," he confided. "Baron Naga, I think, wanted to explain his position."

"In Berlin they say that the fact is breaking up," she told him, dropping her voice a little. "I never thought that it would last so long. America did well to keep out of it."

"He nodded with assumed satisfaction."

"Yes, I think we did the right thing," he agreed. "America doesn't need allies, and she certainly doesn't want to be dragged in to pull chestnuts out of any one else's fire. She is great enough to stand alone. No one can hurt her. Thank God no one wants to."

"I wonder," Gertrude reflected. "America has enemies, you know."

"Pooh! None that really counts," he assured her. "Japan, of course—furious because we won't let her little yellow men come in and become citizens. And I suppose a portion of Germany's historic hatred descends upon us, too. Apart from that, we are all right."

"Supposing America were asked to join the Pact today, do you think she would consent?"

"I'm sure she would," he replied confidently. "Not the ghost of a chance to it. She's been out for all these years, making her own commercial treaties, and today is easily the richest country in the world. Why should she change?"

"Why, indeed," Gertrude murmured. "I was just interested to know how you feel about it."

"I feel as our President feels," he continued, "and most of our thinking men. We are satisfied. We shouldn't get into a state of nerves even if Japan got leave to start building a couple more cruisers a year. By the way, I wonder whom they will send to take Naga's place at the Pact?"

"Katina is coming from Berlin," she told him. "I believe he is on his way already. I don't suppose I should have told you that," she added, with a little laugh, "but you see I'm beginning

THE GATEWAY

The radio bug has hit the movies! There's no rest for the weary in or around the Paramount Eastern studios. The movie stars have fallen—and fallen hard—for the voice of the loud speaker.

Here's how it all came about: When the Irvin Willat company, making "The Story Without a Name," featuring Agnes Ayres and Antonio Moreno, returned to the studio, they were all more or less confirmed radio addicts. The story features the radio and the much talked of "death ray."

Several rainy days on location on a yacht kept the players under cover, and they naturally turned to the most convenient source of amusement, which happened to be a large cabinet radio, used for scenes in the picture. The actors picked up stray messages out of the ether—the big broadcasting stations, with their singing, jazz bands, entertainers, etc.; amateur stations testing or talking to other amateurs—and even a message from a liner far out on the Atlantic.

"It's the most fascinating thing ever," declares Miss Ayres, and the others all agreed with her.

Anyway, the Willat troupe arrived back at the studio—all with wonderful stories. The result: Now even the studio doorman carries a matchbox receiving set about with him.

"The Story Without a Name," with Tyrone Power, Dagmar Gerdony, Jack Bohn, Louis Wolheim and others in the supporting cast, is showing today only at the Gateway theatre, together with an excellent bill of selected vaudeville.

MURPHY COMEDIANS

"Peg o' My Heart" enjoyed another big audience last night at the tent theatre of Murphy Comedians No. 2, San Fernando boulevard at Cedar street, Burbank, reports J. W. Davis, manager. The people like the old favorites and "Peg" is one of the most whimsical, charming characterizations that has ever come to the American stage.

The cast throughout was excellent and Barbara Gurney as "Peg" recalled Laurette Taylor, who created the role and enchanted New York audiences with it some years ago. This is a play of delightful romance, with heart interest predominant. People came out of the big tent last night younger than when they went in. That's the kind of a play it is.

"Peg o' My Heart" will continue throughout the week, the curtain rising each night at 8:15 o'clock, announces Mr. Davis, manager, while the tent will be open at 7:15 o'clock, for those who wish to be sure of getting seats. The tent is heated and there is ample parking space in the vicinity for the cars of all patrons, Mr. Davis states.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Turn to the Right" opened its second week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre with a 2:30 o'clock matinee today and will be presented again at 8:15 o'clock tonight, and every night the remainder of the week.

This play is from the pens of two noted dramatists, Winchell Smith and John E. Hazard, and is regarded as one of the most successful of modern American dramas.

Here is a play drawn true to life, its characters real folks, just as everyone knows people to be, and with one of the sweetest regeneration-through-love themes that has ever come to the stage pervading its atmosphere with a wholesome fragrance. Georgia Woodthorpe, grand old lady of the stage, has been especially engaged for the immortal role of Mrs. Bascom, the loving mother, Joe the boy who is trying to make good, will be played by William H. Stephens.

"CAP" STUBBS—It Was Awful Important, Too!

THE BAXTER BEASLEYS—

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BONFIRE

"Hello there, Curly Twistytail, why aren't you at school today?" called Uncle Wiggily to a little piggie boy who was running along the woodland path one morning.

"No school today! No school today!" squealed Curly, running faster than before.

"Um, I wonder why there's no school," thought Uncle Wiggily to himself as he hopped along pinkling his twink nose. Then he saw Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel, gathering nuts beneath a tree.

"Why aren't you at school, Johnnie?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Why are so many of you children out of school?"

"Cause it's election," chattered Johnnie. "Don't you know you have to vote for Uncle Butter to be mayor of Woodland today? And tonight we animal boys are going to make a big bonfire and have a lot of fun 'cause Uncle Butter is going to be elected."

"Oh, I almost forgot it was election," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well, that goat gentleman is a good friend of mine, so I will vote for him."

"And then will you help us make a bonfire?" asked Johnnie. "To be sure I will," answered the rabbit gentleman. "It's been a long while since I jumped through the smoke of a bonfire. I'll help make one."

"Then you must gather a lot of sticks and old barrels and boxes and leaves to burn on the fire," cried Billie Wagtail, the goat boy, whose uncle was going to be elected.

"I'll do that!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I'll help you make the bonfire to have jolly good fun because it's election."

Home he hopped and put on his old clothes.

"What are you going to do now?" Nurse Jane wanted to know. "Are you going to play golf?"

"I am going to vote and you must also vote, for ladies can do that now," explained Uncle Wiggily. "After that I am going to make a bonfire."

That evening when election was over and Uncle Butter had been made mayor of Woodland, Uncle Wiggily hopped to the open place in the forest, where the pile of wood and leaves was all ready to start the bonfire. None of the animal boys were yet there.

"I'll play a jolly little joke on them," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll put some ears of popcorn inside the pile of wood and leaves and later in the evening I'll take them out and the boys can have popped corn."

But just then along came Uncle Butter, the goat. He and Uncle Wiggily sat down on a stump to talk about the election. And while they were talking, up came the animal boys, who started the bonfire. Up blazed the leaves and dried wood. And Uncle Wiggily was so busy talking that he forgot all about the ears of popcorn he had hidden in the pile. And, of course, the animal boys didn't know they were there.

Then, all of a sudden, when the fire got hot and reached the ears of corn, the corn began to pop.

"Bang! Bang! Binsity-bang-bang!" went the popping corn. The white kernels, bursting, flew

INSURANCE 280 YEARS OLD

Accidental fires occurred so frequently in the seventeenth century in England that the king was petitioned to do something about it, and as a result the first fire insurance company was organized in 1635. The citizens were allowed to insure their houses at the rate of a shilling a year per $100 yearly rent, the association thus formed repairing and rebuilding houses burned and instituting certain first fire precautions.

It costs more than $100,000 each to drill many oil wells.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Table of Feeding for the Eighth Month, and Weaning

Last week I gave you the table for the feeding for the sixth and seventh months. Please remember, mothers, the principle of adding new food to baby's diet is to begin in very small amounts and increase very gradually so that the digestive powers, which are latent, will gradually develop and will not be overtaxed. If baby has not taken any solid foods by the sixth or seventh month, then you will have to begin as for the sixth month, the cereals and vegetables in one-half level teaspoonful doses and increased one-half level teaspoonful every other day, until the amount stated is taken. Any vegetables that are used by the family can be used; spinach, tomatoes, string beans, carrots, cauliflower, and so forth. Spinach, because it is so high in iron, had better be given two or three times a week. Vegetables should be strained until baby's chewing teeth are in (from the age of 12 to 16 months).

Eighth Month:

6 a. m.—Nursing or bottle.

9 a. m.—Orange juice, two or three tablespoonfuls or more.

10 a. m.—Bread or bottle, preceded by strained cereal, three to four level teaspoonfuls. Piece of dry toast to nibble on.

2 p. m.—Nursing or bottle. Strained vegetables, one to two level tablespoonfuls. Bone, good sized, scraped very clean, to gnaw on, two or three times a week.

6 p. m.—Cereal, same amount as setting at 10 a. m., followed by nursing or bottle.

10 p. m.—Nursing or bottle.

Weaning—

It is advisable to begin at the second or third month to give a baby one bottle feeding a day. This gives the mother a needed interval for rest and recreation and accustoms the baby to the bottle so in case he has to be weaned suddenly, it will not be so difficult. You can begin the first bottle by the third month—three ounces of water and two ounces of milk, boiled together for two or three minutes. As soon as the baby is used to that mixture, you can increase the milk a tablespoonful every other day and decrease the water until four ounces of milk and one ounce of water are taken. After the baby is used to this mixture, add one-quarter of a teaspoon of sugar. Increase this sugar portion gradually until a teaspoonful to the bottle is used. As the baby gets older, the amount of the mixture has to be increased. If the baby has not had this one bottle, begin the first week of the ninth month by omitting the nursing at 2 p. m. feeding. Give eight ounces of half milk and half water boiled together for three minutes. Use no sugar. Increase the milk one tablespoonful and decrease the water one tablespoonful a day until whole milk is given; no sugar need be added. Stop boiling the milk if certified or pasteurized after two or three weeks.

The second week omit the 10 a. m. nursing also, and give eight ounces of milk, the strength you have worked up to.

The third week omit the 6 p. m. nursing; the fourth week the 6 a. m. nursing, giving the milk instead. By the tenth or eleventh month omit the 10 p. m. nursing. This gradual weaning will cause no disturbances whatever.

If the baby has been a bottle-fed baby, you can begin by the ninth month to gradually decrease the water or the gruel and the sugar in the formula, until whole milk is being taken some time the ninth or tenth month. Begin to feed from the cup the last part of the year, otherwise you will have difficulty to wean the baby from the bottle. The bottle need not and should not be given after the first year.

Next week we'll give the feeding schedule for the ninth to twelfth month.

Walking For Health

R. E. BAXTER and his wife of Minneapolis, who visited Glendale on a tour which will cover 50,000 miles. They expect to make the round trip in seven years. Mr. Baxter was wounded during the war and is trying to regain his health.

War, the battlefield, a nervous breakdown and subsequent paralysis of both arms, long periods of treatment in hospitals, then the doctor told him his only chance of living was a long period of outdoor life, so R. E. Baxter, of Minneapolis, Minn., accompanied by his wife, started on a 50,000 mile hike.

Yesterday they arrived in Glendale and visited R. E. Brown, at the Glendale Bootery, 227 North and Brand boulevard, leaving later in the day to visit other Southern California cities.

The Baxter's trip is being made partially at the prompting of a wealthy friend, who said, "Here's an offer I'll make you. I'll give you a penny and a complete camping outfit. With that penny as your sole financial resources, you and Mrs. Baxter walk 50,000 miles, make all your own expenses on the trip; do not solicit rides on any trains, except through heavy swamp lands; make the journey in seven years; return to me with the original penny and I'll give you $10,000."

Up to yesterday they had traveled 32,272 miles in about three years, having left Washington, D. C., on December 14, 1921, and traveled through the eastern, middle west and southern states and Mexico, and are now on their way to Canada. Mr. Baxter has almost completely recovered from his infirmities. They earn their expenses by selling souvenir pictures, speaking in theatres, and doing odd jobs. Mrs. Baxter expects to write a book of their experiences when the journey is completed.

Lindsay Leading In Denver Klan Battle

DENVER, Nov. 5.—Ben B. Lindsay, famous juvenile court judge, appears to be one of the few Democratic victors in the city and county election. Returns from 130 out of 211 precincts give Lindsay 26,522 against 24,776 for Judge Royal Graham for juvenile court judge. Lindsay was bitterly opposed by the Ku Klux Klan, whose candidates for the legislative ticket apparently have won a decisive victory.

Underwood Optimistic Over Chance In 1928

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 5.—"The apparent overwhelming Republican victory does not mean disaster for the Democratic party. It will come back in 1928." This was the statement made by Senator Oscar W. Underwood today in commenting on yesterday's election. The Alabama senator, attributed the landslide to a "split in the Democratic ranks."
